

Happy New Year!

Contributed by Aeris
Monday, 05 January 2009

I know, I know...it's already January 5th and I'm just now posting.Â Â But hey at least it isn't February so I'm not as slow as I was last month.Â Hee hee.

Back to celebrating the New Year.Â Can you believe I stayed up to ring in the New Year?!Â Mommy and Daddy were so surprised.Â And the best part is thatÂ I was very well behaved even though it was wayyyyy past my bedtime.Â I had so much fun.Â We went to Uncle Vince & Aunt Renee's house.Â I got to play with Peyton, Brock, Katelyn, Cassidy and their friend Kara.Â At midnight the kids, Mommy & I all went outside to bang pots and pans and yell "Happy New Year!".Â There were people driving up and down the streets honking, other people were setting off fireworks.Â It was a lot of fun.Â When we were finished outside Mommy came in and got all of our stuff and we went home right away.Â She and Daddy wanted to get home before the bars closed and crazy people got on the roads.Â Good thing we didn't have to go too far.Â

Friday my new friend Noah and his Mommy and Daddy came over.Â They live in Minnesota andÂ decided toÂ comeÂ visit family and friends for the holidays.Â Â We had lunch along withÂ Mommy & Daddy's friend Jen, played with all of my cool toys, then the grown ups played something called Guitar Hero 4.Â It was fun dancing to the music and watching them play the instruments.Â

My big sister, Karana, is going to her doctor for surgery on Thursday.Â She has a bump in her mouth that they're going to take off, they're also going to look to see if she has a bump in her ear that is causing the swelling and discomfort.Â The doctor is nice and is going to do that while she's sleeping for her mouth surgery.Â That way it doesn't hurt her when they're looking at her ear.Â He's also going to clean her teeth.Â Boy is that a good thing because her breath stinks and her teeth are yucky!Â She won't let Mommy brush her teeth like I let Mommy brush mine so hers don't look too good.Â We get to take her home the same day!Â Isn't that great.Â No leaving her overnight.Â I'm so happy because I would miss her.Â I'll let you know how she is when we get home.

Have a good week!