Oops, I almost forgot to tell you...on Monday, 02/22/10, I got to go to Mommy's school and help her study. She got this big black box and when she opened it up there was a bunch of weird looking things that she called bones. I found the most interesting thing to be the skull (I think that's what Mommy called it). She thought I would be kind of scared of it, but I wasn't! I picked it up, put it in front of my face...kind of like a mask...and started roaring. Hee hee! I'm funny! I had fun and I got to learn about the body. Mommy was reviewing her stuff and teaching me at the same time. Mommy was surprised that I was actually interested and paid attention. I repeated each part she taught me. I can't wait to do it again!
